Facts About the Grip.

The grip is highly infectious.

It stimulates other diseases.

The grip picks out the weak points of a person's constitution.

The grip in itself is by no means a mortal disease.

The victims of the grip are adults who perish from pneumonia or bronchitis, and the aged who sink from heart exhaustion.

Children, while prone to the disease, enjoy a comparative immunity from its complications and dangers.

In adults, the attack as a rule comes on with lightning-like speed.

A person apparently in perfect health is suddenly overcome by a feeling of discomfort and depression.

He "runs" at the nose; He feels chilly; His head aches; His eyes pain him.

What to do—go to bed at once; take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and quinine as directed for influenza.

Do this and the grip is soon shorn of its terrors. For sale by The Gracious Trinity.

[Some modern translations make it read "Faith, Hope and Love," in lieu of the "Faith, Hope and Charity" of the older version.]

The knowledge felt of things unseen.
That spurs us to reason's faith,
That in the heart defies the brain And conquers—that is Faith.

The longing beck'ning on the way Where beautiful visions ope, That beckons us to Fortune's "Nay" And strengthens—that is Hope.

The spirit sweet that rules the earth And, too, the heavens above, That measures all there is of worth And blesses—that is Love.

No Love no Hope, no Hope no Faith, For live the three in one;
When Love expires a three-fold death Bequeathes, and all are gone. E. D. A.

From Washington, D. C.

Many leading Democrats who, before they left here after the adjournment of the Congress, talked to me about the political situation and outlook, gave it as their opinions and I coincide with them, that the two great issues for the Democrats to advocate in the next campaign would be tariff reform and reduction and incidentally the control and destruction of the trusts of the country who are doing business in restraint of trade, and States rights as opposed to the idea of Secretary Root and President Roosevelt. As the case stands to-day, the present administration stands for the present tariff wall and the maintenance of the trusts north its shadow, and as rank and broad a species of extreme Federalism as was ever advocated by Alexander Hamilton.
Are we to have State sovereignty or a strong centralized government? Think it over.

The so-called war between the President and the big railroad managers is a tempest in a teapot.
It is all sound and fury signifying nothing. A lot of these railroad buccaners, who got all they wanted out of this administration last year when the railroad rate bill was passed, just as I said they would when the President laid down and allowed Aldrich to have his amendments put into the bill and when he went back on Bailey and Tillman and Chandler, have been over here putting up a poor mouth to the President and talking through the administration papers to the effect that they have been begging the President not to sit on them so hard it would mash all the water out of their stocks.
What they really have been doing is to beg the President, after patting him on the back, to get the State legislatures to go slower on them and to advocate in a message to the next Congress that all transportation shall be declared interstate commerce and shall be placed under the control of the Interstate Commerce Commission.
They have got that machine grabbed, and they know it is an easier matter to control it than to control all the State legislatures. In other words, they are assuring the President of their support of his idea of centralized government, thus eliminating the power of the States to control and regulate their own rates of transportation within their own borders. That is the combination between the railroads and the present Republican administration to emasculate the power of the State governments that the people of this country are up against, and the sooner they take cognizance of that fact the better prepared they will be to beat it.

Burton and Roosevelt.

Indeed, the punishment of Burton really had nothing to do with an effort to sustain the honor of the Republic. Burton lay five months in jail because he offended that popular pottery idol, Theodore Roosevelt. Now, why did the idol, in the popular conception, paragon, representative of all the virtues, fearless defender of the people, and devourer blood-rail of all who dare menace his beloved subjects, go after the big traitors, after Aldrich and his organization of plutocracy's tools?
If Burton was once guilty, these men were a thousand times so.
Because, in the first place, these men, with the trusts behind them, are too strong for Roosevelt, and in the second and more important place, Roosevelt was not fighting official treason, as he pretended.

Burton had offended him. That was enough, Burton was convicted. It was the Roosevelt animosity that did it. What a commentary on the integrity of our Federal courts, which should have been insensitive to any consideration of that kind. Yet everybody knew it was the Presidential influence that turned the trick, and nothing else.

The body of Burton's offense was thought to be his making public a letter of Roosevelt's in which he endorsed Burton's "Jerusalem" concession at the World's Fair. Since his release from jail, Burton says it was due to his hostile action against the Sugar Trust. This offended Roosevelt deeply. As if to verify Burton's statement, comes the revelation from Philadelphia, showing how this monster remorselessly ruined one of the city's great financial institutions, and drove one of its officers to dishonor, and another to suicide.
It is also revealed that Theodore Roosevelt, advertising himself as the great "trust buster" of the ages, pattern of rectitude, impartiality and honor, was appealed to, time and again, to move against this voracious demon which spared none, and how, while never relaxing his righteous pose, he refused to make a move.—St.
Louis Censor.

Good Judgment

Is the essential characteristic of men and women. Invaluable to good business men and necessary to housewives. A woman shows good judgment when she buys White's Cream Vermifuge for her baby. The best worm medicine ever offered to mothers. Many indeed are the sensible mothers, who write expressing their gratitude for the good health of their children, which they owe to the use of White's Cream Vermifuge.

The Panama Mystery.

Evidences are multiplying to show that William J. Oliver is a great contracting engineer. He made the low bid for the contract of building the Panama canal, but for some reason or other, no one knows just what, his bid was thrown out after having been virtually accepted. There have been some queer things in connection with that Panama canal job, and the Oliver circumstance was not the least strange. When his low bid was finally shelved Mr.
Oliver made an outcry, as was natural and excusable. But since then something has happened.

And the thing that happened is significant. A newspaper dispatch says that Mr. Oliver has been made president of a big trust company at a fine salary. And that sort of a job is considerably better and easier than jabbing a spade into the stiff and germ ridden mud and unbaked clay of the isthmus.
Wallace made a good start, and then received a call to come home and take something better. Stevens took up the work with a vim, and he, too, was called home to take something easier and better.
Then Shonts followed. Then came Oliver, a responsible contractor, who put in the low bid for the job under the new order of things. Just as he was about to start for the isthmus he was notified that all plans had been changed and the army engineers decided upon as bosses of the work. At about the same time comes the report that Mr. Oliver is to be made president of a big trust company. There are some very mysterious doings connected with that Panama canal job.—The Commoner.

Goodwater Items.

The freshest of the 12th instant did considerable damage to roads, fences and fields throughout this section. Much of the soil was washed from freshly plowed fields, and, in some instances, meadows were damaged by having gravel-bars and drift-stuff deposited upon them.

Wheat is growing well and presents a fine appearance now.
Farmers are preparing ground for corn planting as rapidly as possible.

Spring is earlier here this year than it has been for a number of years past; in fact, if I am not mistaken, it is earlier than at any time since 1871. On the 8th of March, 1871, when the hurricane passed over the region of country near Belgrade, oats were germinated and many farmers were ready for corn planting.

Fruit trees of all kinds are heavily loaded with bloom and grass is growing rapidly. Judging from present prospects, this year bids fair to be noted for unusually heavy yields of fruits.
However, one hard frost will be sufficient to turn the scale and cut short the fruit crop.
